

Dear folks,

My name is Sabrina Lorenzoni, I'm Italian based in Milan, Italy.

My passions are nature and environment, animals and plants and our wonderful planet Earth.

I have a bachelor's degree in biological science focused on Ecology and Environment. I started my career as professional ecologist for private studios, public authority and several associations, all focused into ecology and environmental fields. About 10 years ago I started my blog, named "Curious by nature" ("Curiosa di natura"). writing about environment, ecology and sustainable lifestyle. Then I have attended several courses about creative writing, blogging, social media and communication.

My blog still exists and I am also a writer contributor for different web magazines and websites as a green blogger, ecologist and science communicator. In 2021 I have been nominated "LinkedIn Top Voices Ambiente", 1 of the 10 top LinkedIn profile to follow in Italy talking about environment, sustainability and circular economy.

Digital jobs will be clearly a great part of our future. In my opinion, an influencer is not only a person able to speak or to make video for millions of followers, but also someone well prepared in a specific field, curious, open to learn with passion and a dream to follow. It's necessary to study, to look around, to listen what is happening every day in the world.

And they have to try to imagine where their work is going to evolve in the future.

Good luck for your studies, your future, your life.

You can find me all around the web,

Cheers,

Sabrina

Blog : <https://curiosadinatura.com>

Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/curiosadinatura/>

LinkedIn profile: <https://www.linkedin.com/public-profile/in/slorenzoni/>

Instagram Profile: https://www.instagram.com/curiosa_di_natura/